For the Calendar year 2023-2024
(Chapter-IV, Article-32 of Police Order-2002)

DISTRICT PAKPATTAN
District Police Officer
Pakpattan

INTRODUCTION OF DISTRICT PAKPATTAN:

Pakpattan came into existence much before the invasion of the Alexander the Great, Sultan Mehmood Ghaznavi and Amir Taimur. The famous traveler/explorer Ibn-e-Batuta crossed the river Satluj at the point where presently Pakpattan is situated. Since the river used to flow closer to the town, called at that time Ajudhan, Akbar-e-Azam gave it the name of Pakpattan, due to the sanctity of Shrine of the famous mystic saint Hazrat Baba Farid-ud-Din Masood Ganj Shakar (R.A). Pakpattan was elevated to the status of district in year 1990, when it was carved out from district Sahiwal. Initially, it comprised of one Sub-Division but in January 1995, Sub-Division Arifwala was also made a part of this district. The district headquarters Pakpattan is situated on the main road, connecting Multan with Pakpattan. Length of the Multan Pakpattan road (old Dehli road) within the district is 66-Km, from Bunga Hayat in the East to Rasool Pur in the West. Other main traffic route is Sahiwal to Bahawalnagar via Arifwala. There is also one main canal namely Pakpattan Canal which passes through both of the Sub-Divisions, which length, within the district, 45.33 km. The district also falls on Railways track, from Pakpattan to Lodhran. The length of Railways tract, within the district is 47.85 km. Main towns of the district are Noor Pur, bunga Hayat, Malka Hans, Qabula, Ahmad Yar and Muhammad Nagar. So far as, Geographical location of the district is concerned, it lies at an approximate height of 160 meters from the Sea level and is bounded by the river Satluj in the South, district Okara in the East, district Sahiwal in the North and district Vehari in the West. Area of the district is 6,74,212 Acres while its population is 1823687, according to the census of 2017.

LAST WORDS

By the grace of Almighty “Allah” District Police Pakpattan is performing its duties within the ambit of law and is able enough to control law and order situation alongwith prevention and detection of crime, despite limited financial, technological and human resources. It is also added in this regard that the perfunctory exercise of drawing out plans, chalking out strategies and making vision in various areas, have been continued since establishment of the country but unfortunately, we often failed to achieve our targets and commitments, in real sense of the word. Therefore, vital in this regard is to put all the plans and strategies in practice to have positive development in our society. In-Sha-Allah, the District Police Pakpattan is ready to face any difficulty in discharge of its duties and it has now, come with more devotion/dedication and determination to drain its energies, to achieve the objectives/targets laid down in the policing plan. At the same time, it is also realized that the district police cannot take even a single step without cooperation of the Provincial Governments and the departmental high ups. It is hoped that all these will certainly stand with us, in fulfillment of sublime goals. The district police will, at the same time play its significant role in effective administration of criminal justice and improving image of Police Department, please.

District Police Officer
